

bkbuilder Thanks @thestolerreport | Michael Stoler for inviting @bkbuilder | Ray Harden on your show... "Yes, lots happening in luxury home construction and renovation in the Hamptons. We're seeing the cost per square foot start at $700 and go up to $1700 or more depending on the level of finishes people want to put into their homes..."

Michael Stoler reports: "Builders and developers declare 'the Hamptons are on fire', fast becoming a year-round residence, and facing issues common to many growing areas: traffic, described as "unbelievable;" affordable housing, proposals to build face opposition; and overcrowded schools. Land is scarce and building approvals are hard to get. Real estate is booming, restaurants are staying open as long as possible."
